A New Fuel—Perhaps

A substitute for gasoline has been discovered, unless the inventor deceives himself. The name of the new substance is "gasene." It is an artificial product, built up from the various substances in crude oil, instead of being separated from the mass by distillation, as is the case with gasoline.

The inventor, or discoverer, claims that 60 per cent of a barrel of crude oil can be converted into gasene; whereas a yield of 16 per cent gasoline is considered good. He claims that the new substance can be made to sell at wholesale for 3 or 4 cents per gallon, and that it will work in all gasoline engines.

It sounds too good to be true—especially if one keeps an automobile. Some such invention or discovery is sure to come; but the world looked for it to approach gradually, not arrive all at once. Scientific men are justly skeptical; but the period of doubt can not last long. The claim has the merit of being easy to test. But whether the new discovery works or fails to work, John D. Rockefeller will continue to collect tolls from every internal combustion engine.

According to Uncle Abner. Our idea of having a good time is to have a ball on the back of our neck, the stilet rheumatism and a note due at the bank, and then be obliged to get through a three-hour lecture on "The philosophy of happiness" by some preacher that has stung us on a balky horse a week or two before.

Next to a busted pair of suspenders, fear is the greatest thing in the world to make a fellow unhappy. Old Man Hicks sat around and expected to have pneumonia for seventy-one years and then died of old age before he got his wish.

I have got more use for a feller that yields to temptation once in a while than I have for a feller that brags that he never does, for the latter is a liar.

I REMEMBER

I remember, I remember
The coal I used to throw
Into my hungry furnace
To make the blamed thing go.

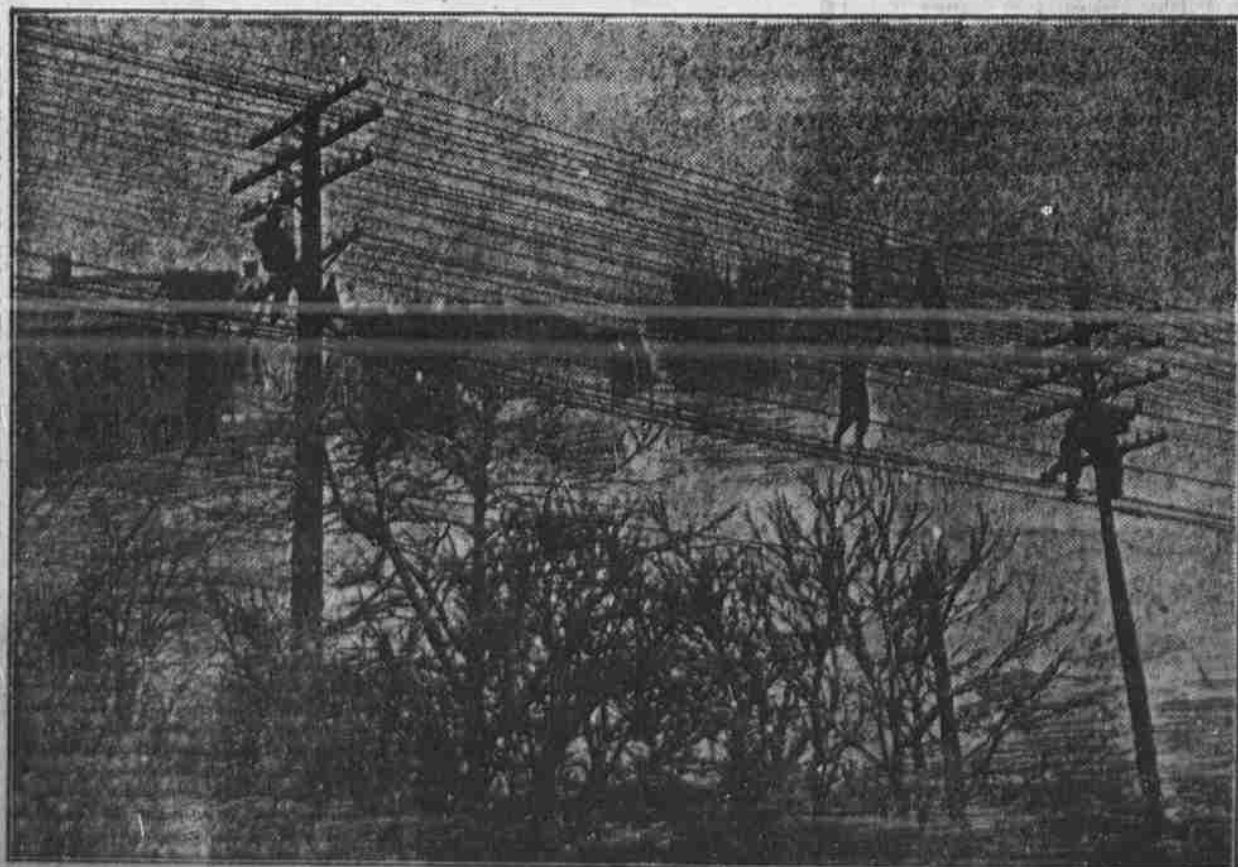

I remember, I remember,
The snow piled up in banks
Which I was wont to shovel
And get no sort of thanks.

I remember, I remember,
How, I, the verdant chump,
Climbed out of bed each morning
To thaw the kitchen pump.

I remember, I remember,
The plumbers used to stay
For hours around our shanty
To mend the pipes each day.

I remember, I remember,
These things all cling to me,
Spring weather we're now having
Suits me, yes, to a T.

WALKING TO SAFETY ON TELEGRAPH CABLES

When the flood struck Dayton, causing tremendous loss of life and property, some of the inhabitants sought safety from the waters by walking along the telegraph cables, as shown in this remarkable photograph.

AGREE ON THE NEW TARIFF MEASURE

Underwood and Wilson Hold Prolonged Conference.

By James J. Montague.
Washington, April 2.—After a prolonged conference, President Wilson and Chairman Underwood of the House Ways and Means committee agreed on the tariff bill, which will be submitted to the House caucus Saturday. The bill carries a 15 cent duty on wool and puts sugar on the free list. The latter provision is an ornamental flourish. Both the president and Mr. Underwood know that a bill admitting sugar free has not the ghost of a show to get through the Senate. Therefore, the sugar provision is set up to be necked down, leaving the Senate with the idea that it has gained a glorious victory.

Discusses Income Tax.
Naturally the division of the tariff bill included a discussion of the income tax which will be needed to make up the revenue that will be lost on such a cut in duties as the House intends to make. It was suggested, but not finally agreed upon, that the question of rate making for incomes should be left to the President. The income tax bill has been tentatively written to include this idea. Thus, if the income tax agreed upon by Congress and the duties under the new bill do not together bring in enough money to pay the country's expenses, the President can boost the income tax until the business of the nation is again done on a solvent basis. A measure of this kind will provoke a savage fight, but Mr. Underwood and the House leaders think they can get it through. The President told Mr. Underwood that details as to schedules were within the province of the House rather than within that of the executive. He did not insist on any save a tariff that would effect a cut in the cost of living.

Prospective Opposition.
Prospective opposition was gone into pretty thoroughly. The President is fully alive to the fact that the free sugar plank which the House leaders insist upon will jeopardize the chances of the bill in the Senate. He is also sufficiently astute to know that the House can permit the Senate to take out the free sugar clause and without any loss of dignity. As a matter of fact this kind of compromise is the only plan whereby the bill can be gotten through, and both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Underwood are very anxious to get it through.

While the President was waiting for Mr. Underwood to come for this final conference Senator Ransdell and Representative Broussard of Louisiana came to him and told him that free sugar would bankrupt the growers of their state.

The present duty is .0165. The Senators from Colorado, only one of whom is a protectionist, have said much the same thing to him. With four Democratic Senators opposing, the new tariff would not have much chance.

FORMER OHIO STATE TREASURER QUIZZED

Green Is Grilled by Men Investigating Wrecking of Columbus Bank.

Columbus, O., April 2.—Former State Treasurer Charles C. Green of London, O., who also served as cashier of the treasury department under Treasurers I. B. Cameron and W. S. McKinnon, has given state investigators looking into the wrecking of the defunct Columbus Savings & Trust Co. a complete statement of the treasurer's alleged illegal dealings with at least ten Ohio banks, and has involved two financial institutions against which no action has yet been taken by the state.

According to the state's attorneys who are conducting the investigation, Green was grilled at a secret hearing. The grill was conducted by Attorneys H. J. Booth and Robert W. McCoy for the state; Prosecuting Attorney Edward C. Turner and Special Counsel Frank Davis, Jr., of the attorney general's office.

An official transcript of Green's testimony was taken. The former state treasurer's story is said to have borne out the story of H. W. Backus, secretary and treasurer of the defunct bank, and other minor bank officials.

While Former Treasurer Green's statement was complete in every detail, and was voluntary, Attorney Booth stated that absolutely no promise of immunity has been extended to him.

State's attorneys declared that Green's testimony was the most important break which the state has been able to make in the line of defense built up by accused bankers. While they would give out nothing definite as to what Green had testified, they intimated that he told them the names of the various officials of the involved banks who negotiated the loans, and who called at the state treasury for the money.

OHIO BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

Portage Savings & Loan Co. Is Now In Hands of Receiver, on Petition of Stockholders.

Ravenna, O., April 2.—The Portage Savings & Loan Co., doing business here since 1895 and carrying deposits in the sum of $330,000, has closed its doors. On petition of stockholders, Judge George F. Robinson appointed O. F. Sperra receiver of the bank. The stockholders allege the company is short approximately $15,000, and that, though the shortage has existed for a long time, it has only recently been discovered. The bank carries the savings of hundreds of Ravenna working people. Officials have given out a statement saying the depositors will be fully protected, as the institution's real estate loans amount to $500,000.

WHITE SLAVER SENT TO PEN

Man Convicted of Transporting Women for Immoral Purposes Gets Two Years in Leavenworth.

Seranton, Pa., April 2.—H. E. Kulp, a Wilkesbarre detective convicted of transporting women from Pennsylvania to West Virginia for immoral purposes, was sentenced in the federal court to two years in Leavenworth prison. His alleged accomplice, Steve Stevens, was given six months in the Luzerne county prison. Kulp gave $10,000 bail, pending an appeal.

It was shown that Kulp advertised for miners and women to go to the West Virginia coal fields, where a strike was in progress. A number of women testified that upon their arrival they were asked to enter disreputable resorts.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys.

Let a Canfield citizen tell you how they work.

Thomas Crothers, farmer, Canfield, Ohio, says: "I have not used Doan's Kidney Pills since I last gave a statement, praising them. They fixed me up so well that my kidneys have not bothered me since. I was greatly troubled by kidney disease for years. There were pains in my back and my kidneys were also badly disordered. Sometimes the kidney secretions were retarded, then again excessive. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I procured a box at Morris' Drug Store and after taking the contents, I was so much better that I used three boxes, which made my cure."

WALL PAPERS

Are One of the Questions Uppermost in the Public Mind Now.

As Spring opens, thoughts naturally turn toward house cleaning and incidentally the necessity of more or less papering. Today the selection of wall paper calls for an expression of taste and sense of harmony. As everybody does not sufficiently possess these natural talents, confidence must be placed in the judgment of merchant from whom the papers are to be purchased. This confidence can be safely placed here.

The McKelvey Department of Wall Paper

Couples a Complete Stock of the Finest and Newest Wall Paper Creations with a Force of Skilled Salespeople, whose Ability is Unquestionable.

To choose wisely from the many different designs offered for wall decoration is perhaps the most difficult feat in buying wall paper. If you buy from a store whose reputation for fair prices is established in your mind, your purchasing is simplified.

The question of light is the one of most importance. But then, wall paper should harmonize in color with the surrounding rooms, and in some way ought to express the character of the people who live in the house.

Stripes tend to lighten a room while flat colors produce the opposite. Grey harmonizes beautifully with white wood and mahogany furniture. Plain self-tone papers will be used very extensively—the new basket weaves, imitation grass cloth, chintzes, Jaspers and tiffany blends with scented borders.

Any color idea for any room in your home can be beautifully worked out from our stocks of the best papers from the leading manufacturers of the world.
